MEDIA REMINDER!!!

Mid-Atlantic Quilt Festival XXIX Returns
To the Hampton Roads Convention Center in Only Three Weeks
--Highly Anticipated Event Returns February 22- February 25--

Hampton, Virginia- In only three weeks, February 22 – 25, 2018, celebrate 29 years of quilt, wearable, and textile art as the Mid-Atlantic Quilt Festival, one of the largest and most anticipated quilt gatherings on the eastern seaboard, returns to the Hampton Roads Convention Center. Presented by Mancuso Show Management and drawing upwards of 10,000 attendees, this show is a must for any quilting or art enthusiast.

The theme of this year’s festival, entitled “Imagine” gives entrants an opportunity to tell show-goers how they imagine their quilts before cutting fabric or picking up needle and thread! The accepted quilt entries compete in Traditional, Innovative, Modern, and Wall Quilt categories as well as for the “Best of Show” title.

While at the festival, be sure to explore the Wearable Art entries. This competition features works from some of the finest textile artists in the country and includes submissions such as vests, jackets and coats.

Also, be sure to take part by casting your votes for Viewer's Choice in the quilt and wearable art competitions. The announcements of these prestigious awards are eagerly anticipated by competition entrants and show-goers.

Other highlights include a Merchants Mall (with over 250 vendors) offering the best machines, fabrics, notions, wearable art, embroidery, and everything for the quilter, textile artist, and home sewer. For an additional fee, individual workshops and lectures are available to attendees. Don't miss the "best time you'll ever have" at a quilt festival at Game Zone: Quilter's Strip Poker/Quilt-O Combo, held on Friday evening, February 24.
